

About the Trainer

Jill Schichter is an innovative, service oriented, visionary leader with international expertise in diverse sectors, including financial services, education, high tech, utilities, healthcare, non-profit and government. Working with global human development firms such as Franklin Covey, Coaches Training Institute, Roosevelt Thomas Diversity Consulting and Training and Vertex Solutions Group, she is recognized for her ability to energize, influence and inspire individuals and teams, drive strategic growth, creatively problem solve and foster progressive change.

As President of Forté Leadership Group, Jill designs and delivers experiential, modular workshops (i.e. Ultimate Manager/Leader Toolkit, Competent Conversation, Leadership and Diversity, Building Cohesive Teams). She also serves as a business coach from manager level to C suite, works with leadership teams and struggling teams to help them become more cohesive and productive, provides business strategy consulting services and is a sought-after speaker and workshop presenter. Her deep understanding of business operations and organizational drivers, her dedication to elevating human potential, and her ability to build rapport and articulately communicate with diverse stakeholders, from plant floor to boardroom, have made her a highly effective consultant, coach, workshop designer and facilitator, and strategic business partner for over 25 years.
