

John Craig

After many years in the public sector, John has offered the knowledge of a seasoned executive to municipalities and non-profit organizations through his consulting firm – John Craig Consulting, providing training and advice on governance models, ethics in government, council-staff relations and human resources.

His extensive municipal government experience includes several years working at a senior management level in the GTA and in one of Canada's fastest growing and most dynamic cities. Since 2006, John has acted in a consulting capacity as Interim CAO, management mentor, trainer, integrity commissioner and closed meeting investigator.

In addition to his municipal service, John is a past President of AMCTO, known as “the municipal experts”. AMCTO promotes and advances excellence in municipal administration and management by providing education, accreditation, leadership, and implementation expertise for municipal professionals.
